Ringard's Revolution

The paper introduces the concept of mustard watch, a common generalisation of the concepts of watch and of mustard pot. The main property of mustard watches is that they can deliver mustard in any desired quantity (theorem 1) and still display time with a precision of 30 seconds (theorem 2). But the real superiority of mustard watches over classical ones is expressed by our theorem 3: a mustard watch with no mustard in it is at least as precise as an ordinary one.

—Yann-Joachim Ringard

Definition (mustard watch)

Let W be a classical watch; a mustard watch derived from W is any W' obtained from W by adding a certain amount of mustard in the mechanism.

Theorem 1

Theorem (arbitrary mustard)

It is possible to get “as much mustard as wanted” from a mustard watch. More precisely, given any amount m of mustard, there is a mustard watch $W(m)$ containing mustard in quantity m .

Theorem (approximate conservation)

A proper mustard watch can display time with a precision of 30 seconds.

Theorem (superiority)

There are mustard watches at least as precise as classical ones.

Theorem 4

Theorem (degeneracy of self-metawatches)

A mustard watch which is its own metawatch is degenerated.
